

Riphah International University

ECONOMICS AND ECONOMIC POLICY ISLAMIC PERSPECTIVE

Edited and Compiled by
Muhammad Ayub

Contributors

M. Ayub
M. Fahim Khan
M. Anas Zarqa
M. Akram Laldin and co-authors
M. Tahir Mansoori
M. Ma'Sum Billah

Economics and Economic Policy
Islamic Perspective

Edited and Compiled by
Muhammad Ayub

Contributors

M. Ayub
M. Fahim Khan
M. Anas Zarqa,
M. Akram Laldin and co-authors
M. Tahir Mansoori
M. Ma'Sum Billah

ISBN: 978-969-9486-05-0

Edition: 1st

© Riphah International University 2022

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, translated, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, without the prior permission in writing of Riphah International University.

Enquiries concerning reproduction should be sent to the copyright owner at:

Riphah International University
7th Avenue, G-7/4, Islamabad, Pakistan
Tel: + 92 331 1000111
+ 92 51 2891835
Email: registrar@riphah.edu.pk
URL: <https://www.riphah.edu.pk/>

The book has been developed and will be distributed by IPS Press — the publishing and bookselling arm of Institute of Policy Studies, Islamabad — for Pakistan and worldwide sales as sole agent

Published in collaboration with the International Institute of Islamic Thought,
Herndon, VA 20170, United States

Cover Design, Layout & Typesetting: Asif Taimuri

Printed by
Premier Printers, Rawalpindi

In the name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Merciful

Dedicated to

All those working on the front of Economics for shared growth, prosperity and the welfare of mankind,

In the light of divine/nature's values

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	xix
Foreword	xxi
Preface	xxv
About the Authors	xxix
Message from Prof. Dr. M. Fahim Khan	xxxv

PART I – THE NEED FOR A NEW APPROACH

Chapter 1 – Need for a Complementary Text on Principles of Economics	3
1.1 What Is Complementarity?	4
1.1.1 Understanding ‘Economics’	5
1.2 Why Focus on Islamic Economics?	8
1.3 Why Existing Approach of Economics is Not Comprehensive and Balanced	8
1.4 Prominent Features of Islamic Approach	9
1.4.1 Markets Become Self-Correcting	9
1.4.2 Speed of Self-Correction in Markets	9
1.4.3 Balanced Approach	9
1.4.4 Beyond Market Economic Segment	10
1.5 Macroeconomic Objectives	10
1.6 Macroeconomic Framework	13
1.7 GNP in Macroeconomic Framework	15
1.8 Factors of Production in Macroeconomic Framework	16
1.8.1 EFP Has Two Types of Entrepreneurs	19
1.9 Market Failures	20
1.10 The Financial Markets	23
1.11 Money Market and Monetary Economics	23
1.12 Sharing Prosperity	24
1.13 Summary	24
1.14 Conclusion and Findings	27
Annexure-1	29

Chapter 2 – Theorizing Complementary Principles of Economics	37
2.1 Introduction	38
2.2 Need for Modifying the Framework for Economic Analysis	39
2.2.1 Balancing as a Key Element in Human Decision-Making	39
2.2.2 Need Fulfillment	42
2.3 Where and How to Find Our Framework of Economic Analysis	44
2.4 Lessons From A&P for Developing Framework of Economic Analysis	46
2.5 Outline of a Framework of Economic Analysis Based on A&P Approach	47
2.5.1 Survival Needs	47
2.5.2 Homeostasis	48
2.5.3 Homeostatic Control Mechanism	48
2.5.4 Homeostatic Imbalance	49
2.6 Principles of Islamic Economics to be Added as Complement to Economics	50
2.6.1 Objectives of Shari‘ah and Theorizing Various Aspects of Economics	50
2.6.2 Important Elements of Islamic Discipline Having Influence on Economic Behavior	52
2.7 Some Axioms in a Muslim Society	54
2.8 Summary and Conclusion	56
Chapter 3 – Property Rights and Wealth Creation (Efficiency, Equity and Social Harmony)	61
3.1 Introduction	62
3.2 The Law of Market and Beyond the Market	63
3.3 Property, Wealth and Property Rights	65
3.4 Creation of Wealth in Market and Beyond the Market	66
3.5 Equity and Social Harmony as Part of Islamic Economic Policy	68
3.6 Efficiency, Equity, and Social Harmony in Wealth Creation	71
3.6.1 Market	72
3.6.2 Awqaf (plural of Waqf)	73
3.7 Implications	75
3.7.1 Features of Islamic Perspective on Property Rights	76
3.7.2 Features of Islamic Economic System	77
3.7.3 Elements of Required Framework	79
3.8 Conclusion	80
Appendix-1	82

PART II – PROPERTY, MARKET, AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Chapter 4 – Law of Property and Property Rights in Islam (A Summary of Fiqh al-Māl)	93
4.1 Introduction	94
4.2 Definition of Māl (Property)	94
4.2.1 Linguistic Meaning	94
4.2.2 Juristic Meaning of Māl	95
4.3 Definition of Milkiyyah (Ownership)	96
4.3.1 Linguistic Meaning	96
4.3.2 Juristic Meaning of Milkiyyah	97
4.4 Classification of Milkiyyah	99
4.4.1 Ownership Based on the Nature of the Property	99
4.4.2 Ownership Based on the Type of Owner	100
4.4.3 Ownership Based on Description and State of the Property	101
4.5 Classification of Milkiyyah Based on its Characteristics	101
4.5.1 Complete Ownership (Milkiyyah Tāmmah)	101
4.5.2 Incomplete Ownership (Milkiyyah Nāqis)	101
4.6 Classification of Milkiyyah (Ownership) in Law	103
4.7 Issues of Al-Milkiyyah in Islamic Finance: The Case of Ṣukūk	104
4.7.1 Issues of Transfer of Ownership in Ṣukūk Assets	105
4.7.2 Transfer of Ownership Through the Sale Contract (Bayʿ)	105
4.7.3 Conditions in Sale Contracts in the Context of Ṣukūk	106
4.8 Conclusion and Recommendations	107
4.8.1 Conclusion	107
4.8.2 Recommendations	109
Chapter 5 – Law of Exchange of Goods and Services (A Summary of Fiqh al-Bayʿ)	113
5.1 Introduction	114
5.2 Definition and Description of Bayʿ (Sale) and Māl (Property)	114
5.2.1 Definition of Bayʿ (Sale)	114
5.2.2 Definition of Māl (Property)	115
5.3 Important Rules of Sale in Islamic Law	115
5.3.1 Rules Pertaining to the Agreement	115

5.3.2 Rules of the Object of Sale (Mabi')	116
5.3.3 Legality of Underlying Cause	119
5.4 Rules for Consideration and Price in a Sale Contract	119
5.5 Rules for Possession (Qabd) and Delivery	121
5.6 Classifications of Sale With Regard to Purpose and Function	122
5.6.1 Muqāyadah or Barter Trade	122
5.6.2 Bay' Mutlaq	122
5.6.3 Al-Sarf	122
5.6.4 Salam Contract	123
5.6.5 Istisnā' (Manufacturing Order)	125
5.6.6 Murābahah	126
5.7 Classification of Sales With Regard to Legal Effect	127
5.7.1 Sahih (Valid)	127
5.7.2 Batil (Void)	128
5.7.3 Fāsīd (Irregular or Voidable)	128
5.7.4 Mawqūf (A Suspended Sale Contract)	129
5.7.5 Nafiz (Operative or Immediately Enforceable)	130
5.7.6 Lazim (Binding)	130
5.7.7 Jā'iz or Ghayr Lāzim (Non-Binding Contract)	130
5.8 Some Prohibited Sales in Islamic Law	130
5.8.1 Invalid Sales Due to Gharar (Grave Uncertainty)	130
5.8.2 Invalid Sales Due to Ribā	131
5.8.3 Invalid Sales Due to Both Ribā and Gharar	132
5.8.4 Invalid Sale Practices Due to Fraud and Deception	133
5.9 Some Controversial Sale Practices in Modern Islamic Finance	134
5.9.1 Tawarruq -Based Sale Transactions	134
5.9.2 Salam in Currency	135
5.10 Summary	137
5.11 Conclusion	138
Chapter 6 – An Overview of Factor Markets in Islamic Economy	143
6.1 The Perspective of Factors Market	143
6.1.1 Economic Problems of Muslim Countries	145
6.1.2 Islamic Perspective on Factors of Production	147

6.2 Nature of Factors of Production	148
6.3 Redefining Factors of Production	152
6.3.1 Hired Factors of Production (HFP)	153
6.3.2 Entrepreneurial Factors of Production (EFP)	156
6.4 Summary and Conclusions	158
6.5 Findings and Recommendations	159
Chapter 7 – Labor and Labor Market with Respect to Employment	167
7.1 Conventional Concepts of Labor and Employment	168
7.2 Islamic Perspective of Employment and Unemployment	175
7.3 Muslim Countries and the Issue of Unemployment	182
7.4 Designing Economic Policies for Economic Progress	186
7.5 Summary and Conclusions	189
Chapter 8 – Markets of Physical and Financial Capital	199
8.1 Introduction	200
8.2 Financial Capital and its Distinction from Physical Capital	200
8.3 Position of Financial Capital in Islamic Perspective	213
8.3.1 Financial Market or Capital Market?	215
8.3.2 Islamic Approach to Financial Capital Market	218
8.4 Summary	221
Chapter 9 – Entrepreneurship and Market of Entrepreneurs	227
9.1 Background	227
9.2 Entrepreneurship and Entrepreneur	229
9.3 Supply and Demand of Entrepreneurs: Islamic Perspective	231
9.3.1 Supply of Entrepreneurs	232
9.3.2 Demand for Entrepreneurs	234
9.3.3 Reward of Entrepreneurs	235
9.4 Random Walk of Development and Role of Financial Capital	236
9.5 Summary	238
Annexure-2	241

Chapter 10 – Islamic Perspective on Market Failure and Lessons for Economic Policy	247
10.1 Introduction	248
10.2 Market Failure: The Real Issue for Economic Policy	249
10.3 Conventional Perspective on Market for ‘Bads’	249
10.4 Information Asymmetry and Market for ‘Bads’	250
10.5 Human Psyche that Leads to Failure in Human Behavior	256
10.6 What Can Reform Human Psyche?	257
10.6.1 Lesson for Elimination of Interest from Economy	260
10.7 Summary	261

PART III – ECONOMICS BEYOND MARKET

Chapter 11 – Market Segment and Beyond Market Segment of Islamic Economy (Market Functioning and the Economics of Cooperation, and Spending for Others)	269
11.1 Introduction	270
11.2 Challenges Facing Economics and the Global Economy	271
11.3 Broad-Based Divine System of Economy	273
11.3.1 Economics for Shared Prosperity	273
11.3.2 Responsibility of the State, Society, and Individuals	275
11.3.3 The Fundamentals of Islamic Economics	276
11.3.4 Islamic Economy: A Balanced Economy	277
11.4 Islamic Economics to Move Forward	280
11.5 Institutional Framework Comprising Three Sectors	281
11.5.1 Waqf in an Islamic Economy	281
11.5.2 Qard Hassan and Islamic Economy	283
11.5.3 Cooperation for Risk and Reward Sharing	284
11.6 Summary and Conclusion	286
Chapter 12 – Economics of Philanthropy in Islamic Economic Framework	291
12.1 Introduction	292
12.2 Economic Activities Beyond Market in Islamic Framework	292
12.3 Nature and Significance of Beyond Market Economics in Islam	292
12.4 Comparative Features of Market and Beyond Market Segments in Islamic Economy	295

12.5 Framework for an Islamic Economy	296
12.6 Macroeconomics in Islamic Perspective	297
12.7 Macroeconomic Objective of Islamic Economy	298
12.7.1 ‘Growth Free of Poverty’ Instead of ‘Growth with Full Employment’	298
12.8 Macroeconomic Strategy in Islamic Economy	299
12.8.1 Significance of Eliminating Poverty (Faqar/Maskanah)	300
12.9 Applying the Theory to Economy of Pakistan	301
12.10 Conclusion	302
Chapter 13 – Waqf as a Virtuous Institution and Means to Socio-Economic Welfare: Pakistan’s Case	305
13.1 Introduction	306
13.2 Poverty Eradication for Sustainable Growth	307
13.3 The Objectives of an Islamic Society	308
13.3.1 Importance of Cooperation and Virtuous Giving	308
13.3.2 A Way to Peaceful Life and Societies	309
13.3.3 Waqf : Literal Meaning and Technical Definition	311
13.4 Waqf in Historical Perspective	313
13.4.1 Potential of Waqf for Socio-Economic Development in Present-Day World	313
13.4.2 Documentation and Legal Requirements in Waqf	315
13.4.3 Waqf Management	316
13.5 Legal Framework for Waqf in Pakistan	317
13.5.1 Registration of a Non-Profit Company (NPC)	318
13.6 Suggested Framework of Waqf -Related Welfare Program	319
13.6.1 Suggested Categories of Waqf	319
13.6.2 Suggested Structure of Awqaf	320
13.7 Islamic Finance Institutions and Role of Waqf for Empowerment of Poor	324
13.7.1 Qard Hassan -based Projects of Waqf Funds	327
13.7.2 Islamic Banks Issuing Perpetual or Time-bound Charitable Shukūk	327
13.7.3 The Need for Helping Hand by the State Institutions	328
13.8 Conclusion	329

PART IV – CONSUMPTION AND INVESTMENT

Chapter 14 – The Framework for Islamic Theory of Consumer Behavior	337
14.1 Introduction: Need for an Alternative Theory on Consumer Behavior	338
14.2 Distinctive Features of Islamic Approach to Consumption	339
14.2.1 Rationality Assumption	339
14.2.2 Needs and Well-Being as Basis for Consumer Decision-Making	340
14.3 Methodology of Analysis	341
14.4 Objective of Analysis	342
14.5 Cornerstones for General Behavior	342
14.5.1 Righteousness	342
14.5.2 Borrowing Discouraged and Lending Encouraged (Only as a Virtue)	343
14.5.3 Ihsan	343
14.5.4 Avoiding Harm (Damage/Loss)	344
14.6 Specific Injunctions/Values for Consumer Behavior	344
14.6.1 Values Leading to Judicious Use of Resources	344
14.6.2 Differences Between Islamic Concept of Sadaqah and Secular Concept of Charity	346
14.6.3 Values Relating to Quality and Style of Consumption	347
14.7 Towards an Islamic Theory of Consumer Behavior	348
14.7.1 Determinants of Consumer’s Choice in Islamic Framework	349
14.8 Maximizing the Well-being	352
14.8.1 Choice of Goods and Services for Present Consumption	353
14.8.2 Consumer-Community Interaction	356
14.8.3 Indicators of a Community Being Off-Track in Consumer Behavior	357
14.8.4 Implications of Deviation from Islamic Path	358
14.8.5 How to Bring Back the Community on Islamic Track with Respect to Consumer Behavior	359
14.9 Conclusion	361
Chapter 15 – Topics in the Theory of Consumer Behavior in Islamic Framework	365
15.1 Introduction	366
15.2 Framework for Analysis of Consumer Behavior	366
15.2.1 Consumers’ Choices Related to Objectives of Life	367

15.2.2 Sound-Mindedness of the Consumer	368
15.2.3 Sound-Mindedness is Different from Right-Mindedness	369
15.2.4 Consumers' Decision-Making Process	370
15.3 Rethinking the Theory of Consumer Behavior	371
15.3.1 Difference That the Suggested Framework Would Make	373
15.4 Consumers' Perception of Economic Problems: Major Differences	375
15.4.1 Consumers' Economic Problem	376
15.4.2 Time Preference, Time Value of Resources and Discounting of Future Flows	376
15.4.3 How Pressing are Present Needs Compared to Future Needs?	377
15.4.4 How Much Uncertainty is Associated with Use of Resources for Meeting Future Needs?	377
15.4.5 How to Balance Allocation of Resources for Present and Future Needs?	377
15.4.6 Realizing Time Value of Resources	377
15.4.7 Theory of Interest and Realization of Time Value of Resources	378
15.4.8 The Point to be Noted in Respect of Interest Rate	379
15.4.9 Theory of Finance and Consumer Behavior	379
15.4.10 Economic Development and Consumer Behavior	379
15.4.11 Unemployment and Consumers' Behavior	380
15.4.12 Implications of Consumer Behavior at Macroeconomic Level	383
15.5 Consumer Behavior and Problem of Poverty	383
15.5.1 Involuntary Poverty	384
15.5.2 Voluntary Poverty	384
15.5.3 Potential Poverty	384
15.5.4 Extreme Poverty	384
15.6 Sustainable Development, Wastage of Resources and Pollution of Environment	384
15.7 Application of Theory	385
15.8 Conclusion – Need-based Approach to Analyze Consumer Behavior	386
Chapter 16 – Investment Decision-Making	389
16.1 Introduction	390
16.2 The Model	390
16.3 Investment Demand	392

16.3.1 Investment Demand Function at Micro Level	393
16.4 Investment Funds Market: Macro Perspective	395
16.4.1 Goods Market Equilibrium	396
16.4.2 Money Demand Function	396
16.4.3 Money Market Equilibrium	397
16.5 Income Determination – ‘IS-LAM’ Framework	398
16.6 Economic Development and the Macroeconomic Framework	401
16.6.1 Efficacy of Monetary Policy Vis-à-Vis Fiscal Policy	401
16.6.2 Process of Economic Development	401
16.6.3 Low Income Equilibrium Trap	402
16.7 Summary and Conclusions	402
Appendix-2	405

PART V – MONEY, FINANCE, AND BANKING

Chapter 17 – Time Value of Money and Financial Accommodation Without Interest	415
17.1 Introduction	416
17.2 Money Versus Finance in Market and Beyond Market	416
17.3 Money and Finance Having Time Value	419
17.4 Money and Financial Accommodation Without Interest	420
17.5 Discounting Time Value of Money in Islamic Perspective	420
17.6 Time Value of Money and Investment Decision-Making	423
17.6.1 Concept of Time Preference	424
17.6.2 Rate of Return and Investment Decision-Making	424
17.7 Determination of Discount Rate in Islamic Perspective	425
17.8 Summary and Conclusions	425
Chapter 18 – Monetary Economics in Islamic Perspective	431
18.1 Introduction	432
18.2 Model for an Islamic Economy	434
18.3 Monetary Economics in Islamic Framework	438
18.3.1 Demand for Money in an Islamic Economy	438
18.3.2 Monetary Policy in an Islamic Economy	440
18.4 Monetary Policy for Present-Day Muslim Economies	441

18.4.1 Cost (Price) of Holding Money in Islamic Perspective	441
18.4.2 Money Demand in Present-Day Muslim Economies	443
18.4.3 Money Supply in Present-Day Muslim Economies	443
18.4.4 Equilibrium in Money Market	445
18.4.5 Credit Creation in a Muslim Economy	445
18.5 Monetary Policy in Islamic Perspective	445
18.5.1 Rationalizing Reserve Requirements and Utilization of Credit	445
18.5.2 Replacing Debt-based Instruments with Profit-Loss Sharing Based Instruments	446
18.6 Need for Monetary Policy in Present-Day Muslim Economies	447
18.6.1 Shari'ah Supervision of Monetary Policy	448
18.6.2 Reduction of Private Sector's Dependence on Debt-Creating Investment	448
18.6.3 Rationalizing Secondary Markets to Reflect Islamic Spirit	449
18.7 Summary and Conclusions	449
Chapter 19 – Innovative Mechanisms in Establishing Islamic Cryptocurrency	457
19.1 Overview	458
19.2 Introduction	459
19.3 Characteristics of Cryptocurrency	460
19.3.1 Rational Outlook	460
19.3.2 Operating Principles	461
19.3.3 Moral Principles	461
19.4 Structural Paradigm	461
19.4.1 Operational Mechanism	462
19.4.2 Technical Know-How	462
19.4.3 Limitations	462
19.5 Products and Services	463
19.5.1 Asset-backed Operation (Backing Asset)	463
19.5.2 Decision-Makers	463
19.5.3 Shari'ah Advisory Board (SAB)	463
19.5.4 Board of Technical Advisors (BOTA)	464
19.5.5 Management	464
19.6 Roadmap of Islamic Cryptocurrency Operation	464

19.6.1 Public Statement	468
19.6.2 White Paper	468
19.6.4 Islamic Coin Branding	469
19.6.5 Islamic Coin Structural Analysis	469
19.7 Emergence of Blockchain	469
19.8 How Islamic Coin Could Help Solve Some Problems	470
19.9 Application of Islamic Cryptocurrency	470
19.9.1 Total Volume	470
19.9.2 Launch Time and its Checklist	470
19.9.3 Sharī'ah Cryptocurrency Appreciation Logic	471
19.10 Project Progress and Team	471
19.10.1 Operation	471
19.10.2 Market	471
19.10.3 Accounts	471
19.10.4 Significant Outcomes	471
19.10.5 Humanitarian Concern Through Tabarru'	472
19.11 Conclusion	472
Chapter 20 – Economic Role of Islamic Financing Techniques and Islamic Banking and Finance	475
20.1 Introduction	476
20.2 Categories of Business Contracts	477
20.3 Economic Features of Islamic Financing Techniques	479
20.3.1 Nature of Financing	479
20.3.2 Role of Finance Provider in the Management/Use of Funds	480
20.3.3 Risk Bearing by Finance Provider	480
20.3.4 Uncertainty of Rate of Return on Capital for Finance Provider	481
20.3.5 Salient Features and Principles of Islamic Finance	482
20.3.6 Objectives of Introducing Islamic Banking and Finance	482
20.3.7 Cost of Capital for the Finance User	482
20.3.8 Relationship Between Cost of Capital and Rate of Return on Capital	483
20.4 Economic Role of Islamic Financing Techniques	483
20.4.1 Households' Consumption – Savings Choice	484
20.4.2 Firms' Investment – Decision-Making	485

20.4.3 Financial Intermediation	487
20.5 Macroeconomic Implications of Islamic Financing Techniques	490
20.5.1 Growth and Development	490
20.5.2 Inflation	491
20.5.3 Equity Aspect: Employment Generation and Poverty Alleviation	491
20.5.4 Equity Aspect: Reducing Income and Wealth Inequalities	492
20.5.5 Economic Stability	492
20.5.6 General Equilibrium Analysis	493
20.6 Islamic Finance and Money & Credit Creation	493
20.7 Practical Considerations	494
20.7.1 Islamic Banking and Finance as in Vogue	496
20.8 Conclusion	499
Chapter 21 – Forward Trading and Futures Markets	505
21.1 Overview	506
21.2 Introduction	506
21.2.1 Evolution of Modern Futures Market	509
21.3 A Review of Contemporary Futures Market from Islamic Point of View	509
21.3.1 Development of ‘Futures’ and Futures Market	509
21.3.2 From Forwards to Futures – Speculative Activities in the Future Markets	511
21.3.3 Hedging and Futures Market	512
21.3.4 Growing Trends of Modern Futures Market	513
21.3.5 Consequences of the Growth in Futures Markets	515
21.4 Exploring Islamic Futures	515
21.4.1 Needs for Islamic Future Market	516
21.4.2 Principles for Development and Operations of Islamic Futures Market	517
21.5 Possible Types of Islamic Future Markets	529
21.5.1 Salam -based Futures Market for Commodities	529
21.5.2 Istisna’ a -based Future Market	538
21.5.3 Ju’alah -based Futures Markets	539
21.6 Conclusion	539

PART VI – ECONOMIC POLICY IN ISLAMIC PERSPECTIVE

Chapter 22 – Islamic Economics Policy: Principles and Guidelines	545
22.1 Overview and Introduction	546
22.2 The Place of Policy Within Economics as a Science	546
22.2.1 The Place of Policy Within Islamic Shaṛī‘ah	547
22.3 Bare Bones of a Policy	548
22.3.1 Goals and Means	548
22.3.2 Positive Facts About Policies	548
22.3.3 Economic Goals	549
22.3.4 Objectives (Maqāsid)	551
22.3.5 The Transitivity Maxim	551
22.4 Some Relevant Fiqh Concepts: The Five Shaṛī‘ah Injunctions	551
22.4.1 Hierarchy of Shaṛī‘ah Injunctions	551
22.4.2 Levels of Achieving an Injunction (Goal)	552
22.4.3 The Golden Precept of Moderation	552
22.4.4 Some Relevant Fiqh Maxims	553
22.5 The Road From Facts to Policy	553
22.5.1 A Parable of Positive Facts and Normative Policy Goals	554
22.5.2 Some Economic Policies of the Prophet (PBUH)	555
22.5.3 Examples of Contemporary Economic Policy Goals and Tools	556
22.5.4 Examples of Common Tools to Achieve Different Economic Objectives	557
Bibliography	561
Glossary of Key Terms	573
Index	621
About the Book	633